HOUSTON TO BE NEW SECRETARY OF THE TREASURY

First Transfer in Cabinet Made by President Wilson in the Nomination of Secretary of Agriculture Houston to Succeed Secretary Glass—Meredith of Iowa to Succeed Houston as Secretary of Agriculture.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Washington, Jan. 27.—President Wilson will today send to the senate the nomination of Secretary of Agriculture David Franklin Houston to be secretary of the treasury. It was announced at the White House today.

Edward T. Meredith of Iowa will be nominated as secretary of agriculture.

The nomination of Secretary Houston is the first transfer made in the cabinet since the administration of President Wilson. It is understood that Secretary Houston, who was a college professor in St. Louis before entering the cabinet, has been anxious for some time to take up the work of the treasury department and he was willing to accept the post when Secretary McAdoo resigned.

Meredith, who succeeds Secretary Houston as head of the department of agriculture, is editor of "Successful Farming," and comes into the administration as a new official. At present he is in Miami, Fla., but a telegram was received from him today accepting the post.

Meredith's home is in Des Moines, Ia., and he has been prominent in Democratic politics in his home state for some years. At one time he ran for governor of Iowa. He is well known in agricultural circles and is regarded as an authority on such matters.

Meredith is president of the Associated Advertising Clubs of America. In taking over the post of secretary of the treasury, Secretary Houston becomes the third man to fill that office since President Wilson took office. William G. McAdoo resigned, and Carter Glass, present incumbent, resigned to accept appointment as senator from Virginia.

Secretary Houston has long been regarded as a student of finance and is familiar with many problems which will come before him in his new office.

According to the government, the men bought some shoes as low as $1.25 a pair and sold them for more than $5. It was said that some salesmen were given 20% of all money received above the regular asking price and in one month these men made $414 in commissions. 61 FLU CASES IN KINGSTON

And More Are Expected to Be Reported Today—Fortunately Majority of Cases are Light—There Are Also 6 Cases of Pneumonia Here.

The flu is gradually spreading in Kingston and at the time this was written 61 cases had been reported to the board of health, and more cases were expected to be reported later in the day. The flu is not confined to any one section of the city, but there are cases in every section.

So far the majority of the cases of flu reported are light attacks, and the number of pneumonia cases are but few considering the number of cases of flu. At the board of health office this morning it was reported that there are now six cases of pneumonia in Kingston. One physician reported by mail this morning nine cases of grip.

Monday morning the board of health had received a report of 21 cases of flu in Kingston, but the afternoon mail that day and the mail this morning rapidly swelled the number when 40 new cases were reported, bringing the total to that stated.

All of the physicians have been asked by Dr. Frank A. Johnston, the health officer, to report all flu cases promptly. The outbreak started last week with three cases.

FEW FLU CASES ARE VIRULENT

Survey Shows Disease is in Mild Form—Precautions That Should Be Taken by All Persons.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Albany, Jan. 27.—The report of Dr. E. S. Godfrey, epidemiologist in the state department of health, who was sent to Chicago to study the prevailing epidemic of influenza, was today received by State Commissioner of Health Hermann M. Biggs. Dr. Godfrey stated that the vast majority of cases of influenza are of a mild type and the duration of the disease is a short one and not usually followed by complications. Interspersed with the mild cases, however, are a number which do not differ in character from those severe cases which occurred so frequently during the great epidemic of 1919. These, as far as it could be learned, were in persons who did not suffer from the disease last year, an evidence insofar as it goes, of the existence of immunity against the virulent type of influenza in those who have previously suffered from it.

The conditions in Chicago do not differ essentially from those officially reported from New York city. Dr. Biggs stated that at the present time, except for the occurrence of the comparatively small number of severe type of cases, there is no reason to regard the present prevalence of winter colds, which are frequently followed by pneumonia, as differing in extent and character from those which annually occur at this season.

A brief study of the figures available for January of the number of pneumonia deaths in New York city shows that for the first 25 days of January they are not higher than those occurring in 1917 and previous winters.

The commissioner has requested all health officers throughout the state to send in telegraphic reports of pneumonia cases occurring within their jurisdiction, believing that in this way an estimate may be made of the general condition of affairs in regard to the severity of respiratory diseases throughout the state. The reports of influenza which come to the department giving very little information on this point. The department has received up to the present time only one call for a nurse from up-state districts.

Dr. Biggs stated that there is little to be added to the advice which has so frequently been urged, that persons suffering from acute colds with fever, pain in the bones and general prostration, should whenever possible go immediately to bed and remain there until well. The diet should be fluid, or semi-fluid, and the bowels should be opened freely. There is at the present time no known preventive of influenza—either mild or severe. Insofar as possible, persons at this season of the year should avoid crowds, should not expose themselves to drafts, should keep their feet warm and dry and should protect themselves by keeping away from those who are coughing and sneezing, which acts should always be regarded by placing the handkerchief or hand before the nose and mouth.

CIGARMAKERS REJECT GOMPERS

By Telegram to The Freeman.
New York, Jan. 27.—President Samuel Gompers, of the American Federation of Labor, who is 70 years old today, is facing one of his hardest battles to retain his prestige as labor leader.

The "birthday gift" of the local chapter of Cigarmakers' International Union was a rejection of Mr. Gompers' name as a delegate to the cigarmakers' convention. Mr. Gompers was formerly an officer of the local union and received the cigarmakers' support in all his labor labor fights. His rejection was attributed to the younger members who believe that Gompers is not progressive enough.

NO TRADE WITH SOVIET RUSSIA

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Washington, Jan. 27.—There will be no trade between the United States and Soviet Russia for the present, it was announced at the state department today.

Officials declared that the note of the supreme council setting forth the conditions for trade with Russia made public in Paris did not establish a means of trade, as required by this nation, which would insure that no goods would be used for political or military purposes. Pending the establishment of a means of trade and insurance of the use of goods sent in trade this government will not permit trade with Russia, it was announced.

REBUCKING THE QUEEN.

Lucy Page Gaston Shocked and Tells Queen Mary So.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Chicago, Jan. 27.—England's queen is going to learn in about two weeks what the followers of Lucy Page Gaston think about her smoking a cigarette after luncheon, as reported in cables.

Miss Gaston, who is president of the International Anti-Cigarette League, said today she had written to Queen Mary about it. Here is what she said:

"Knowing your high ideals for womanhood and live interest in safeguarding youth, the story has caused a shock to the American estimate of your noble character. The report is discredited, and as the American leader in the anti-cigarette movement, I have been requested to get from you if possible a correction that will set you right."

PARIS IN GRIP OF "APACHE TERROR"

Wave of Crimes of Violence Terrorizes City and Newspapers Demand Vigorous Measures by the Police.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Paris, Jan. 27.—The "Apache terror" holds Paris in its grip today for the first time since before the war. Newspapers are demanding that the police immediately launch a vigorous campaign against the lawless element, as a result of the wholesale attacks on unescorted women, stabbings, robberies and holdups that are daily reported to the prefecture.

Operations were begun by the Apaches in the suburbs but they gradually extended their field until it now reaches the central part of Paris. Practically all are youths of 18 or 20, assisted by young girls who are put out as "bait" to lure the victims. Some of the depredations have exceeded anything in the past for boldness.

One 19-year-old leader was arrested by the police after he had directed a number of raids from the basement of a cafe. The "headquarters" were heavily barricaded, and the officers had to break down several doors before they got in. A dozen girls are suspected of working as "lures" for this gang. They made a strenuous attempt to save the youths with alibis.

Other suspected Apaches were arrested on the charge of having revolvers, knives and quantities of chloroform in their possession. Many of the lawbreakers are said to be ex-soldiers.

Aroused by the depredations in the Monte Marte section, the police are making a round up of dance halls and cafes. Special efforts are being made to get girls of suspicious character. Their part of the Apache outwary is to make the chance acquaintance of men and then lure them into dark and unfrequented streets where they fall easy prey to the Apache bands.

"The return of the Apaches is only natural," said Police Prefect Raux. "These youths learned to use revolvers and knives during the war. When they were demobilized they could not get work so they turned assassins."

Judge Sutherland, of counsel for the state, read the translation. "Secret Social beliefs before the war and now" was the book's title.

The translation showed that the writer had quoted many other writers and Seymour Steadman, counsel for the Socialists, complained that Sutherland did not mention "quotes" as they appeared. He insisted that all the "quotes" should be so characterized. Chairman Martin, of the judiciary committee, so ruled.

Walton, Kingston, who was to have introduced the bill in the senate restoring the state convention for the nomination of state and judicial officers, did not present the measure last night. Senator Walton is preparing a statement which will accompany the measure when it is introduced. The statement will explain in detail the provisions of the measure. It is expected that the bill will be introduced this week. The leaders of both the Republican and Democratic parties are in favor of the restoration of the state convention and Governor Smith has come out with a statement endorsing the forthcoming legislation upon the subject.

LITTLE RED BOOK READ IN TRIAL OF FIVE SOCIALIST ASSEMBLYMEN

"The Great Plan of the Socialist Movement Must Be to Raise a Great Army Ready for Revolution," Says the Book—Socialists Denounced War Credits.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Albany, N. Y., Jan. 27.—A four-day recess—devoted to planning an attempted compromise—found New York state assemblymen today as grimly determined as ever to go through with the proceeding of trying five Socialist members for the offense of being Socialists and plotting to overthrow the government.

Speaker Sweet, head of the movement against the Socialists, was so thoroughly sustained by the votes of the assemblymen at the session of the assembly Monday evening, that today, it appears, he is stronger than ever. When the judiciary committee met this morning and the introduction of evidence against the five Socialists was resumed by John B. Stanchfield there was little indication that even the few members of the judiciary committee who were against the unseating of the Socialists would have any influence against the slated plans of the assemblymen.

The judiciary committee came into the assembly chamber fifteen minutes late after a stormy private session. Members Morris, Bloch and Cuvillier, in their seats before the opening of the session, engaged in sotto voce recriminations during which Bloch, who has opposed the action against the Socialists, was heard to say to Cuvillier, "That's a hell of a question to ask a man."

John B. Stanchfield at the opening brought up the matter of the now famous little red book, exhibit 17, which Morris Hilquit proved last week had been only half translated from Yiddish by the prosecution and which Hilquit alleged only partially gave the contents of the book which, he said, opposed Bolshevism, instead of justifying it.

Stanchfield presented in evidence a complete translation of the book through a Mr. Robinson, secret service interpreter, whom he called as a witness.

Judge Sutherland, of counsel for the state, read the translation. "Secret Social beliefs before the war and now" was the book's title.

The translation showed that the writer had quoted many other writers and Seymour Steadman, counsel for the Socialists, complained that Sutherland did not mention "quotes" as they appeared. He insisted that all the "quotes" should be so characterized. Chairman Martin, of the judiciary committee, so ruled.

The writer of the book said that he believed that if Socialists elected a president and congress and made laws which the capitalists refused to follow, that force ought to be used against the capitalists.

"Workmen cannot depend on peaceful processes," read Sutherland, "they must prepare for a revolution."

"Socialism does not believe in the state. As soon as a dictatorship of the proletariat has effected a change in government, it ceases to exist together with the state."

It was apparent as Sutherland read, that the writer of the little red book had avoided giving his own opinions and was merely describing the plans and deliberations of the various branches of Socialism.

"The power of congress grows smaller and smaller because congress is close to the people. The other two branches of the government, the judicial and executive, are far removed from the people and therefore have more power, which constantly grows," the book stated. The writer gave as an example the dictatorship over congress by the president.

"The dictatorship of the proletariat in Russia means that only people who work for their living take part in the government. The bourgeoisie are eliminated from government and are gradually being transformed to the proletariat," the book continued. "The bourgeoisie have no one to vote for in Russia. Why should they wish to enter the government, their only idea is to hinder the proletariat. Just as other governments look on anarchists, so the Bolsheviks in Russia look upon the bourgeoisie."

"We find bitter antagonism among the intelligentsia against proletarian dictatorship," read Sutherland. "The intelligentsia is not brave. They love business and ease. There are not enough of them to be feared, in the matter of educating the masses for a revolution."

"The present day state is a dictatorship of the bourgeoisie," was a phrase which constantly appeared in Sutherland's reading.

The attorneys for the state in presenting the red book, evidently had in mind, exposing all branches of radical thought. Before ten minutes of the reading had passed it was evident that the book was full of sensational plans.

The author evidently had gotten down to the heart of the revolution and movement in Russia and had applied his knowledge of the Russian situation to the present day situation in America.

"Labor leaders do not possess enough backbone to serve as bullies but were carried away by the winds of war," said the author. "We must get rid of our theories, and the great plan of the socialist movement must be to raise a great army of men and women for revolution. At present it is a chaotic situation."

and instruct a Socialist army. We see the beginning of the Socialist movement in one country, the despair of its success in another and its success in a third."

Julius Gerber, secretary of the Socialist party in New York, was called. He was questioned concerning the list of membership of the party and Stedman for the Socialists consented to having the committee examine the list, on agreement that it should not be published.

Stanchfield then showed to Gerber documents having to do with the last Socialist convention in Chicago.

Stanchfield showed that at Chicago the Socialists declared by resolution against Socialists who voted war credits; he then read an article from the state constitution declaring all residents of New York in duty bound to support the United States in war.

A copy of the Newark Call of November 6, 1919, was introduced with an advertisement for an "All-star celebration of the second anniversary of the founding of the Russian soviet republic." Parkway Palace, New York city. Russian revolutionary songs were advertised for the occasion.

The night of November 7 in New York city must have been an exciting one for thousands of Socialists. Stanchfield read a dispatch by Alexander Trachtenberg delivered at the advertised meeting in which he said there were dozens of meetings in the city celebrating the Russian soviet anniversary.

Stanchfield quoted Trachtenberg as saying that a soviet republic was a possibility in the United States. The Russian soviet government was highly praised.

Stanchfield next endeavored to introduce a speech delivered at the same meeting by Santeri Nuorteva, associate of Martens, the alleged Russian soviet ambassador in Washington. He called Smart, a Lusk committee stenographer, who admitted on cross-examination by Stedman, that he was born in London and had become an American citizen in November, 1919.

The forenoon session adjourned while Smart was on the stand.

BRYAN MOVES TO MAKE WORLD DRY

World-Wide Survey Aided by the State Department to Ascertain Conditions Abroad in Preparation For New Campaign.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Washington, Jan. 27.—William Jennings Bryan has inaugurated a world-wide survey for the "dry" forces. It developed today, and has successfully enlisted the machinery of the state department, in a concerted drive to mass facts and figures of conditions in "wet" countries, preparatory to planned campaigns to make the whole world arid.

The full strength of the government's diplomatic forces have been placed at Mr. Bryan's disposal to prosecute the canvass which will not be complete for many months.

High plenipotentiaries and consuls-general have been instructed to make minute studies of prohibition and temperance conditions along many lines. These reports are to be assembled and forwarded to Washington with all possible expedition.

Already diplomats are beginning to make their returns under the "dry" survey. The earliest reports have come from South American capitals. These are lengthy and elaborate reviews of "wet" conditions in some of the gay capitals to the south.

Mr. Bryan, in a conference with leading "dry" leaders here at a recent politeness over the national amendment becoming effective, initiated plans to throw the bulk of the "dry" campaign fund into South America and to follow this by a spirited drive in other parts of the world. Early returns of "dry" tables from South America, officials believed may explain in some measure the reasons advanced for an early campaign in that direction.

Particular stress was laid upon the importance of returns from Cuba, asked for by Mr. Bryan, and this may be the forerunner of an active campaign there.

Mr. Bryan is in constant touch with the state department in the canvass. As soon as cables or mailed reports are received they are quickly deciphered, copied and sent to Mr. Bryan wherever he may be on his speaking tour.

STATE FACTORY WORKERS WAGES

Figures Show Weekly Earnings Increased 13 Per Cent as Against 3
 Per Cent Increase in Food Costs—December Weekly Average All Industries $26.32.

By telegraph to The Freeman Albany, Jan. 27 (Special).—The close of 1919 shows a distinct gain for factory workers of New York state in the increase of their earnings relative to the increase in food prices.
 In December, 1918, factory workers' earnings averaged 82 per cent higher than in June, 1911, and in December, 1919, the average increase was 107 per cent. Food prices were 89 per cent higher in December, 1918, than in June, 1911, and 99 per cent higher in December, 1919. This means an average increase during the year of 15 per cent in factory workers' weekly earnings as compared with 5
 per cent increase in food costs.

These facts appear in the comparison of the index numbers of the retail cost of food, furnished by the United States bureau of labor statistics, with the average weekly earnings of the employees of 1,648 manufacturers of New York state by the bureau of statistics of the state industrial commission.

Reviewing the movements in the earnings of factory workers during the past year, it appears that abrupt decreases occurred during the first months of the year, due chiefly to the elimination of overtime work, which had been prevalent during 1918, and to part time work in some cases. This was accompanied by reductions in the number of workers employed. The low mark for weekly earnings was reached in most of the chief industry groups in January, February or March. The decline in the metal industries continued to June. After the first quarter of the year, numerous increases in rates of pay were reported, but for a few months these were largely offset by reductions in the number of regular working hours.
 Since July, fewer changes in regular hours were reported, and with the gain in factory operations, wage rate increases became more numerous.
 The result was a rapid upward movement in the average weekly earnings of factory employees during the last five months of the year.

The December 1919, average was $26.32, an increase of 95 cents or more than 3 per cent over the previous month, and $1.25 or 19 per cent over February, 1919, the low month of the year. It does not appear probable that earnings will continue to increase at the rate of the past few months. Special circumstances, such as the settlement of labor troubles with considerable increases in wage rates were responsible for a large part of the November and December gains in average earnings. The crest in factory workers' earnings does not appear to have been reached, however, as the majority of industries showed at least a slight increase in December.

2 STATE FACTORY... squeezing
 The total amount of payroll expenditures in December was 7 per cent higher than in November. This means an amount of 155 per cent higher than in June, 1914, whereas the increase in number of factory workers was but 23 per cent.

The largest gains of the month in workers' earnings were in the silverware, cotton textile and printing industries. These gains are the result of increased operations in the silverware industry, a 12½ per cent increase in rates December first following the settlement of labor troubles in the cotton textile industry, and the $6 weekly increase to journeymen in the printing industry. Other increases in wage rates in December were reported by firms manufacturing varnishes, paper, woolen cloth, knit goods, finished cotton cloth and men's clothing.

Reduced weekly earnings in the cement industry were due to the coal shortage in the early part of December, the sugar shortage caused reduced forces and reduced earnings in sugar refineries, and seasonal conditions were responsible for lower earnings in brick, miscellaneous canvas and leather goods, and fur goods.
 Work in breweries appeared to be on the decline in December—the report show fewer employees and reduced earnings.

The December average weekly earnings of workers in the main divisions of manufacturing are as follows:

Stone, clay and glass	$26.32
Metal and machinery	29.08
Wood manufactures	24.00
Furs, leather and rubber	22.98
Chemicals, oils and paints	25.47

Swift & Company's 1919 Earnings

How They Affected You

During the twelve months ended November 1, 1919, (its fiscal year), Swift & Company transacted its large volume of business on the smallest margin of profit in its history.

Sales over $1,200,000,000.00

Net earnings $13,870,181.34

Our shipments were in excess of 5,500,000,000 lbs.

This means that our earnings were less than 1½ cents on each dollar of sales, or a quarter of a cent on each pound shipped.

Consumer—
 The average consumer eats about ½ lb. of meat per day—180 lbs. per year. If he purchased only Swift & Company products he would have contributed only 45 cents (180 lbs. @ ¼ cent a pound)—a year profit to Swift & Company for its investment and service, less than one cent per week.

Our earnings were so small as to have practically no effect on the family meat bill.

Live Stock Raiser—
 Swift & Company handled in 1919 over 16,000,000 head of live stock. You can figure for yourself that our earnings of 1½ cents on each dollar of sales are too small to affect the price you received for your stock.

We paid all it was humanly possible to pay considering what the meat and by-products could be sold for.

Swift & Company, U. S. A.

A Dress Suit and a Shave Won't Do It

To be at your best, you must feel at your best. The man that is magnetic, popular, successful—is the one who radiates vigor and health. Nothing pulls a man down more surely—more insidiously—than constipation. The poisons arising from the decaying intestinal matter take the color out of your face and the "pep" from your stride. Keep clean—inside as well as out.

By an entirely new principle Nujol will keep the poisonous waste moving out of the body. Every other form of treatment either irritates or forces the system. Nujol works on the waste matter instead of on the system.

Nujol prevents constipation by keeping the food waste soft, thus helping Nature establish easy, thorough bowel evacuation at regular intervals—the healthiest habit in the world.

It is absolutely harmless and pleasant to take—try it.

Nujol is sold by all druggists in sealed bottles only bearing Nujol trademarks. Write Nujol Laboratories, Standard Oil Co. (New Jersey), 50 Broadway, New York, for booklet "Thirty Feet of Danger."

These dinners are good and will be continued.

Sometimes, however, a change of program is appropriate. Even an informal dinner is not quite as informal and neighborly as a smoker.

So this time it is going to be a smoker. And from early indications it looks as if it would be a big smoker. The idea seems popular, and many members of the chamber have already planned to be there.

Again there will be no difference in the arrangement of the meeting. W. C. Paul, of the Automobile Blue Book, is an expert on the subject of what publicity can do for a city. And he brings to this subject a keen enthusiasm about Kingston, the expression of which President O'Connor and Secretary Hudson led them to feel that he is just the man to talk at this meeting.

The difference between this meeting and the dinners which have preceded it is that after Mr. Paul has talked members of the chamber will have a chance to talk too.

It won't be simply a speech. It

SHRINERS WORK EVERY MINUTE

To Make This Dance on February 16
The Success Its Predecessors Have Seen—Appreciative Letters Received.
Although three weeks still remain before the Shriner's ball at the armory on the evening of February 16th, the committee in charge is working every minute to make it the best dance of the season. The Shriners have always been noted for the thorough manner in which they do things and this year will be no exception.

Without a doubt the attendance will be the largest ever at the armory and the proceeds will be given for the benefit of the Industrial Home. An unusual number of out of town Shriners have signified their intention of coming to Kingston to attend the ball. The officers of Kingston Shrine daily receive letters asking for tickets for their delegation. The following are a couple of letters received:

F. D. Sargent,
Stationer, Printer and Lithographer,
Albany, N. Y.
January 22, 1920.

Mr. William J. Turck,
Secretary Kingston Shriner's Association,
Kingston, N. Y.

Dear Noble:
I will advise you how many tickets we will be able to use for your dance. I want to compliment you and the rest of the live energetic Shriners in Kingston who do so much to make your shrine dance a success. I trust this will be even more of a success than the preceding ones.

With kind regards, I am,
Sincerely yours,
F. D. SARGENT

James H. Millard chief of Cypress Temple, Albany, writes:
Mr. Sam Brown,
President Kingston Shriner's Association,
Kingston, N. Y.

My Dear Noble:
The Arab Patrol wish you great success with your dance and reception, on Monday evening, February 16th. We are giving our annual dance and reception on February 13. The Patrol gave their annual banquet at the Masonic Temple, January 12th at which we were fortunate enough to have with us your newly elected Captain of the Guard in the Shrine, Noble Matthew Herzog. He happened to be up to the institution of officers of the Shrine at 7:30 and the banquet was at nine.

Yours in the Faith,
JAMES H. MILLARD.

SLEET STORM TIES UP NEW YORK

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
New York, Jan. 27.—Surface and elevated transportation lines were tied up here today as a result of a sleet storm that blanketed Greater New York in ice. Transit operators said conditions were the worst in years. The city's milk supply was tied up as a result of the storm. Scrapers applied to third rails did little but start fires as a result of short circuits and a number of trains were damaged. The weather bureau promised relief toward midday with warmer temperatures and probably rain.

PETTY CRIME HAS
WANED IN CITY

Petty crime in Kingston has waned, and but one arrest is recorded by the police department since the first of the year. The fact that the police have not found it necessary to make an arrest since New Year's day is no indication that the department is not kept busy, however, as an arrest is only an incident in the usual routine work of the police force. City Judge Schirick has experienced a considerable falling off in the number of usual family squabbles between man and wife that were brought to his attention last year. Incidentally he has not issued a warrant of arrest this year.

STONE RIDGE.

Stone Ridge, Jan. 26.—Mrs. Oscar Wood is ill. We hope soon to see her around again.

The Reformed Church has called a pastor. He will take up the work in the spring. The pulpit will be supplied until then.

Thomas Westbrook will enter high school in Kingston next Monday.

ST. REMY.

St. Remy, Jan. 26.—Mrs. Martin Slover died Friday morning after a long illness having been confined to her bed three years. She was a consistent Christian, a member of the St. Remy Church, Sunday school, Christian Endeavor and Ladies' Aid Society. Her husband, son and daughter are left to mourn her loss. The funeral was held at the home this afternoon 2 o'clock. The Rev. L. Appeldoorn had charge of the services. Interment in the St. Remy Rural Cemetery.

There are a number sick in the village and a great many have colds. Several of the scholars took Regents at Eddyville last week.

Mrs. William Ferguson has been suffering from blood poison in her hand.

A great many are improving the sleighing by getting out logs to the saw mill.

KRIPPLEBUSH.

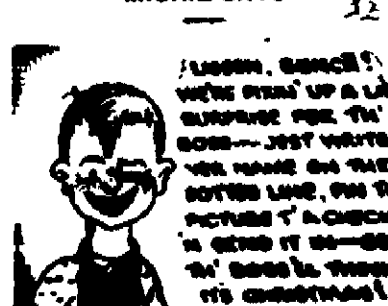

Kripplebush, Jan. 26.—Mr. Davis, our school teacher will give an interesting talk, Friday afternoon, January 30, at 1:30 o'clock. Everybody welcome to come.

Miss Theresa Davis and Esther Lyons tried Regents' examinations at High Falls.

Leroy Osterhout and family spent Friday evening with Mrs. V. Westbrook.

Elting Delamater is spending some time with his sister, Mrs. Henry Ten Hagen.

THE DOWNTOWN DRY GOODS STORE

26 BROADWAY, COR. MILL ST.

What Aunt Mary Says

Sugar and eggs, salt and flour,
Baking powder to give them power,
SALANUT pure to mix them right,—
We'll have real doughnuts tomorrow night.

A potato creamed will add to the flavor,
And altogether the mixture will savor
Of dainty deliciousness, tickling the taste,
And when fried, not a crumb of the doughnut will waste.
Fry them in SALANUT;
when they are brown, You'll smile with the rest of them, never a frown.

Over them all sprinkle sugar so sweet,
Give the whole family an old-fashioned treat.

Aunt Mary's Directions:

1 cup SALANUT 1/2 cup sugar 1 quart flour
1/2 cup salt 3 eggs 3 teaspoons baking powder

Cream the sugar and SALANUT, add the potato, then add the eggs, one at a time, adding the flour sifted with baking powder. Mix to a stiff dough. Roll out in additional flour and fry in boiling SALANUT.

Your grocer will supply you with SALANUT.

WALTON BILL TO RESTORE CONVENTIONS

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Albany, N. Y., Jan. 27.—Legislation repealing the direct primary law and restoring the convention system for the selection of party candidates for state and judicial offices was introduced in the legislature today by Senator Charles W. Walton, of Ulster and Assemblyman George R. Penrod of Oneida. At present the bill is much the same in form as one of last year, although there is a possibility a rider will later be attached, providing for submission of the change in the nominating system to the people at a special election in the spring.

The bill continues the direct primary system in the nomination of candidates for congress, for members of the state legislature, and for city, town and county officers.

Delegates to the proposed state and judicial conventions would be nominated by petition and voted for at either the spring or fall primaries, continuing the introductory pointed out, the direct primary system in the selection of candidates for the conventions.

Willie Lewis, noted middleweight pugilist, is in a serious condition in St. Vincent's Hospital, New York, after being shot three times by an unknown assailant. The shooting occurred in the Chateau-Thierry Cabaret, of which Lewis is manager, and is believed to be the outcome of an incident which occurred a week ago, when Lewis ejected several men, who started boxing in New York in 1900 as a welterweight. Although he never held a title in either the middleweight or welterweight classes, he attained an international reputation as a high class performer. He sought the middleweight championship, but was knocked out by Stanley Ketchel in 1909. He went to Paris and there beat all the French champions of his weight. He learned to talk French fluently and became rather a social as well as athletic favorite. It was his appearance and manners really that put boxing on a high plane in the French capital.

A State Pony Farm.

Through the efforts of Major George F. Chandler of the state troopers, a pony farm has been established at Troop K, White Plains, where most of the horses for the state police are raised. Some of the finer colts have been sold for such high prices that the money brought in from this sale virtually pays for the feed and upkeep of the animals. Major Chandler is of the opinion that in time the horses will be entirely without cost to the state. The farm at White Plains is 40 acres and at the present time there are 36 horses owned by the state.

THAW FOLLOWS COLD WEATHER

There was a welcome change in the weather today when the annual January thaw was experienced after two weeks of extremely cold weather. This afternoon thermometers about town registered from 42 to 45 degrees above zero, and sidewalks were covered with pools of water from the thawing snow and ice. So warm was the weather today that everyone walked the streets with overcoats unbuttoned. With so much flu prevailing, however, care should be taken to avoid contracting a cold.
